

The background of the page is a yellowish-green illustration. At the top, there are sketches of various leaves and branches. In the middle, a boy with dark, spiky hair is shown in profile, looking towards the right. Below him, the backs of several other people's heads are visible, suggesting a group of people looking out over a landscape. In the distance, there is a simple wooden fence and a small bird on the ground. The overall style is that of a children's book illustration.
